

LIVING UNDER TWO LAWS AT ONCE

Professor Edwin Judge explores Western culture's desire to challenge the status quo and have an open and diverse society.

LIVING UNDER TWO LAWS AT ONCE

CBF LEGAL. All rise.

May 5	“No one can serve two masters”
May 12	“Whoever wants to be great among you must be your servant”
May 19	“Give unto Caesar what is Caesar’s”
May 26	“You would have no authority over me unless it were given you from above”

Price: Free talks, breakfast at own cost

Venue: Silks Coffee Lounge, (upper rear section), 170 Phillip Street

Time: Breakfast from 7:20am, talk and question time 7:40 - 8:20am

Contact: CBF Legal (02) 9232 8700
peter.kaldor@citybibleforum.org
polly.seidler@citybibleforum.org
www.citybibleforum.org

Western culture is dynamic and open-ended, embracing inherent dilemmas. These dilemmas create our desire to improve and do things better and foster within each individual a tension between conflicting duties, which are not capable of being integrated into a unified whole. By examining both classical and biblical sources, Professor Edwin Judge will argue that this dynamism of the West is the imprint left to each of us by the Bible’s challenge of having obligations to both God and State.

Edwin Judge is Emeritus Professor of History, Macquarie University. Yet he is far more than a distinguished ancient historian - he has dedicated himself to the lifelong study of culture and inherited traditions. Upon receiving his honorary doctor of letters from Sydney University in 2006, Edwin was described as one of Australia’s leading academic figures. Each of his series in 2008, 2009 and 2010 at CBF Legal has been well received by both lawyers and judges.

Solicitor CLE points: if these seminars are relevant to your immediate or long term needs in relation to your professional development and practice of law then you may claim 0.5 CLE points per session.

Barrister CPD points: NSW Bar Association has approved 0.5 CPD points per session.