The tutor and reader relationship is an important and formative institution for successful practice at an independent Bar.

This interactive seminar will present a review of the Reader/Tutor Guidelines, which provide information concerning the requirements and content of the Reading Program.

The seminar will also raise some practical and ethical issues and challenges which may be encountered during the reading year from the different perspectives of readers and tutors. It will also consider some structures and techniques to develop the relationship in order to best meet the needs of the reader having regard to the objectives of the Reading Program.

Attendance at this session will satisfy the condition of eligibility for tutors as resolved by Bar Council in February 2016. Members who have recently become tutors or considering becoming tutors are particularly encouraged to attend.
